Ischia's castle, vineyards and thermal culture

Fortified views, volcanic wines and the restorative spirit of the island.

Discover Ischia, where volcanic landscapes, sheltered bays and hillside vineyards frame an island with a rich Mediterranean history. Known in antiquity as Pithekoussai, it became a meeting point for merchants and cultures in the eighth century BC, connecting the Greek world with trading routes across the Mediterranean.

Begin with a dedicated guided visit to Castello Aragonese, whose commanding silhouette rises above the sea beside Ischia Ponte. Its passages and terraces reveal successive chapters of island life, opening onto sweeping views of the coast. Below, the village's waterfront and narrow streets offer a more intimate encounter with Ischia's maritime character.

Continue to a wine estate for a wine tasting. Discover how local producers interpret the island's volcanic terrain and sea-facing slopes through wines closely connected to their surroundings.

Procida's colours and maritime life

Pastel harbours, fishing traditions and the authentic rhythm of island life.

Travel from Ischia to Procida on a boat reserved for your party, following a route agreed with the skipper according to sea conditions. Arriving from the water reveals an inviting scene of colourful houses gathered around small harbours, with terraces and rooftops rising gently above the shore.

Explore Marina Corricella, where pastel façades, arches and outdoor stairways create an intricate waterfront overlooking the fishing boats. Procida's charm lies in its authentic, lived-in atmosphere: a place where the beauty of the setting remains inseparable from everyday island life.

Enjoy lunch ashore at a selected restaurant before continuing with a guided walk towards Terra Murata. From this historic hilltop quarter, views across the harbour reveal the island's colours against the blue of the sea. Palazzo d'Avalos may also be included where visitor access is available.

Baia's submerged history and Bacoli

Sunken ruins, Roman engineering and the layered heritage of the Phlegraean coast.

Travel to the Bacoli area using transfer arrangements confirmed in advance, discovering a landscape where ancient history and the sea are closely intertwined. At Baia, the remains of a Roman settlement lie beneath the water, submerged over centuries by the gradual movement of the ground known as bradyseism.

Explore the Submerged Archaeological Park through an available viewing-boat, snorkelling or diving programme with a qualified operator. Selected according to your interests, ability and conditions, the experience offers an evocative encounter with traces of Roman life preserved beneath the surface.

Continue with a dedicated guided visit to Piscina Mirabilis, where monumental columns and lofty vaults reveal the scale of this ancient cistern. Its hushed atmosphere offers a striking contrast to the open coastal landscape.

Time permitting, a visit to Casina Vanvitelliana may also be included, subject to its opening arrangements. Designed by Carlo Vanvitelli for King Ferdinand IV of Bourbon, this elegant eighteenth-century pavilion served as a royal retreat after hunting and fishing excursions. Set on a small islet in Lake Fusaro, its delicate proportions and reflections give it the appearance of floating on the water—a graceful final glimpse of the Phlegraean area's layered heritage.
